SHORT BUT SWEET

Boycotts Raised at the Final June Meeting of the C. I. U.

The last meeting of the Central Labor union for June was called to order by President Marvin, with Ed O'Donnell in the vice president's chair. Six new delegates were elected from various unions. A communication from President Flannigan and Secretary Crow of the Michigan Federation of Labor, notifying all unions of the raising of the boycott on the Michigan Catholic and also on Fleischman's point, was referred to the press committee for publication. Also a communication from the Passengers' association in regard to reduced rates for labor day. Warren Squires tendered his resignation as vice president, which was accepted. The various unions reported business good with the exception of the furniture workers, who reported their business very dull. The motion reported that Jackson, the barber, had squared himself with their union. Mr. Arson, from the barbers, upon being asked if he considered it wrong for a union man to be shaved by a member of the barbers' union in a shop from which they had removed the card, said it was not; that they wanted the members of their union recognized. Ed O'Donnell was then elected vice president for the remainder of the term on the first ballot. W. F. Ten reported that there is ready made clothing with union labels, and a committee was appointed to confer with our merchants to see if they will handle the goods for union men in this city. Secretary Arson then referred to the grievance committee and the meeting adjourned.

His Wife Fancies Frisbie Shows Up to Take the Prisoner—And From Two Jurors.

Yesterday afternoon a warrant was issued for Page's arrest, on the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses, which was placed in constable Munker's hands to serve. Page has been making his headquarters at the Irving house, and was crossing Fourth street bridge about 5 o'clock, carrying a package that would indicate that he wanted to see a man pretty badly on the east side. Munker got on his trail and, by running several blocks, overhauled him about midway of the bridge.

He was taken before Justice Logan, who fixed his bond at $3,000 to appear at his office tomorrow forenoon at 10 o'clock. The fellow had only about $350 and was sent to jail. It is quite probable that the result of his preliminary trial tomorrow will be a binding over to the grand jury.

Nature of the Swindle

The scheme is the old, old one with a few embellishments. It is strange, indeed, that persons can be so easily ensnared by these wily scoundrels whose schemes are exposed in every journal in the land more or less. The article itself is only an ordinary tin contrivance about two and a half feet long, hollowed on the top to conform to the fall of the wagon wheel. Oil is put in this and a fire made by pouring kerosene over a wire cage containing asbestos. The fire heats the oil in the box, in which condition it readily enters the road, causing it to expand and making the fire travel. The principle is all right and several Orange township farmers tell us that they get their wagon tires in no other way. But this particular article is very cheaply put up, probably not to exceed $1, and on it is no notice that the article is patented or who the manufacturer of it is. Waterloo (Iowa) Daily Times, June 22.

G. W. Fry, a wealthy farmer living near Vinton, made a transaction in this city Tuesday which, to all appearances, will cause him to lose a good portion of his wealth. It seems that one M. J. Page called upon him at his home last week and proceeded to show him a patent wagon tire setter, claiming for it great merit, as it would enable the farmers to set their own tires in a manner not equalled by the blacksmith. Page represented that he controlled the right of the sale of the article and induced Fry to buy a certain territory in the state for $1,000 in cash. Page came to the city Tuesday in company with Fry and placed the article on exhibition at J. R. Vaughan's implement establishment. Soon after this another party giving his name as D. D. Frisbie came up. He claimed to own a half interest in the patent, but was quite anxious to dispose of his interest in the concern.

Frisbie and the Swag

About this time another man came up and he pretended to want to buy some attachments to a lawing machine. That was of a secondary importance, however, as he was no doubt an accomplice of both Page and Frisbie. He at once became intensely interested in the "great labor saving article" and offered Page $200 a township for some territory in the western part of Iowa, which amounted in all to $7,500. Page told Fry it would mean a few thousand dollars in their pockets if they purchased Frisbie's share, who was very anxious to sell. The scheme had such a rosy hue for Fry that he entered upon negotiations with Frisbie and offered him $1,200 for his interest and gave three promissory notes for payment. Frisbie took the notes and disappeared, as did the man who was so eager to purchase a portion of the right.

CARD FROM TWO JURORS

They Defend Themselves and the Verdict in the Page Case.

EDITOR GRAND RAPIDS HERALD.—Inasmuch as THE HERALD of Friday, the 24th inst., in its editorial bearing upon the Page case, has seen fit to throw out a series of insinuations, so nearly severe in its character as to appear as a reflection upon the character and good faith of the jurors who were connected with the case, it would appear only fair that the jurors' side of the case be presented to the public. THE HERALD makes a claim that the majority were for "no cause of action." This statement is not substantiated by the result of the ballot, as an agreement for "cause" was nearly unanimous, and was reached shortly after the second ballot, any further disagreement being due solely to a discussion of the amount of damages. Again THE HERALD says: "The jury which taxed THE HERALD $300 for warning the public against this malicious swindler must begin to believe that they were cruelly taken in." It is beyond dispute that each individual member of the jury who was in favor of a verdict for "cause," had his own personal opinion as to the character of the plaintiff, whether good or bad; but such an opinion was allowed to have influence only so far as the facts and evidence in the case warranted. Now, THE HERALD claims to be in possession of a complete chain of evidence to warrant the granting of a new trial, it is consistent to presume that the "jury might have been swindled, or that they might have been "bounced," simply because they were not in possession of this "new evidence," or in fact any evidence of an unusual character, and therefore they did their duty in the premises, and that regardless of personal opinion? The jurors do not feel as though they had been "taken in," from the evidence that was offered them at the trial; on the contrary, if any one was taken in it was THE HERALD.

Hotel Ottawa at Ottawa Beach

Will open July 1st under the management of Mr. J. E. Rice, of the Bridge Street House, Grand Rapids, under whose management the "Ottawa" was so popular last year. Mr. Rice's well-known reputation as a successful hotel landlord is a guarantee that the "Ottawa" will be run in first-class style. The pavilion will also be under his charge, and run to satisfy the popular demand for luncheon and light refreshments.

Extra

Mr. James Kelly, from Roscon, Kings county, Ireland, will introduce for the first time in this country on any stage his two flutes known to the musical world as third and concert, each note being distinct, lending to the ear a beautiful sound as an orchestration. This gentleman is an artist and worthy the sanction of all good lovers of good music. Will positively appear at Harry Wood's benefit Thursday night, June 27, at Smith's opera house.

Harry Hooper and R. C. Housinger, both gentlemen from Hooper, Iowa, horns shooting place, corner Waterloo and Louis streets, will turn 35 shots against time, which will beat the world's record for $25.00.

If You Speculate

You want to do it under the most favorable conditions. Deal with a concern of reputation and standing, and one that has had experience in the markets, enabling them to give good advice. C. F. Van Winkle & Co., 239 La Salle street, Chicago, have been in business since 1872 and always paid dollar for dollar. Their market reports are regarded as the most reliable in Chicago, and contain fine pointers for traders. Send to them for "Speculation or How to Trade," a little book which they send free on receipt of stamps. It contains exactly what speculators need and shows how you can operate as successfully at your home as if you were in Chicago.
